Reflections on the Sunday Readings: 4th Sunday of Easter

In times of decision or difficulty, we often look to God to give us insight as to what is ahead and how we might best prepare and respond. When there is uncertainty, it is natural to desire God to let us see more clearly, that we might not have the uneasiness and anxiety of facing the unknown. Yet God points to a different way through the image of the shepherd.

The writer Scott Hahn tells of a faithful man who asked Mother Teresa to pray that he might have clarity in discerning his path; she responded that it was not clarity he needed, but rather trust. The shepherd, calling his sheep, does not give details of the plans for the day, or the terrain ahead, or foretell of the difficulties to be encountered. The sheep “know his voice” and so they follow in the direction that the shepherd calls.

We are to trust. When we cannot see what lies ahead, when we are anxious in the face of the unknown, we are to trust the God Shepherd who goes before us, who calls us by name. We are called by the Father, gifted with Holy Spirit and can know the direction we are to go even if we don't have the full itinerary. Jesus, we trust in you.

A boy, his sneakers, and a giant sombrero take up the story of St. Juan Diego's miraculous encounter with the Blessed Virgin Mary. How far will Our Lady ask him to reach out in faith, trust, and confidence?

Fun-loving Patrick had it easy at his parents' seaside villa. At 16, he thought he had it made for life—that is, until the day riders kidnapped him to nearby Ireland. Now a slave and shepherd, Patrick faced a bleak and uncertain future. To survive, he'd have to conquer cold, hunger, wild beasts, and even worse enemies. What's more, Patrick would have to conquer himself. So he turned to God. With new strength and inner freedom, he began an incredible saga of faith against which no enemy would ever prevail. Blending historical facts with beloved traditions, Patrick: Brave Shepherd of the Emerald Isle brings to life a long-lost world of Druids, warriors, and kings. One that brave Patrick illuminated forever.

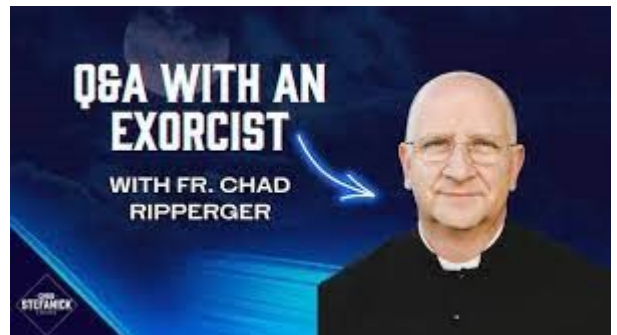

Join Dr. Michael Barber and Dr. Scott Hefelfinger as they highlight the ways The Chosen brings biblical events to life.

Fr. Spitzer is back, and he has even MORE ways that science supports belief in God. This time, he's talking about scientific evidence for the supernatural world. Some of the evidence is stunning: reports from near-death experiences (NDEs) show people recognizing long-dead relatives, seeing objects they had never experienced, and even meeting God. Even better, people often lose their fear of death completely afterwards.

Whether you're worried that science disproves God, or just want to know what people experience when they almost die, you have to see our interview!
